Exterior color for your home? Curb appeal is not your only consideration...

Decorate your home to enhance an outdoor lifestyle that living in the west allows. This selection of welcoming colors will look great at both the curb and your outdoor living area. You can't go wrong with these timeless classic colors designed to complement neighborhoods of today.

Create a welcoming entry to your home. Changing the color of your front door will give your home a new look, one that reflects your unique personality and enhances your home's curb appeal.

This collection features a wealth of combinations that include a variety of tonal ranges. Mid-toned colors are versatile and easy on the eye, making them consistently one of the most popular choices for home exteriors. While light colors make a home appear larger and dark colors make a home appear smaller.

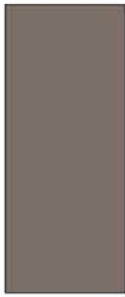

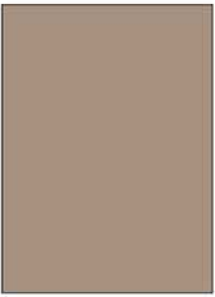

When planning colors for your home's exterior, select at least three different colors - one for the walls, one for the trim and one for accents like entry doors and shutters. Consider using the wall or trim color on garage doors. Be sure to consider existing colors like roofing and masonry as well as colors of neighboring homes.

To view these colors on your home, visit our website and use myColorVisualizer. Be sure to test actual paint color samples on the surface where it will be applied, before making a color decision.
